Brizio is a world renowned custom hot rod builder, and if you've seen any of his work you've been impressed even if hot rods are not usually your cup of tea. The workmanship and attention to detail are reminiscent of the finest coach builders we all celebrate regularly. This is a rare opportunity to see the shop where this magic happens.

President's Message

Hello Cadillac and LaSalle lovers!

I'm writing this just after getting back from our annual Don Frolich Memorial meet at Portal Park in Cupertino. What a turnout this year, a delicious BBQ by Andys. We had a great time as always, and lucked out with the mild weather!

We are adding a tour next month Roy Brizio's Hot Rod Shop in South San Francisco on Sept. 19. It's casually organized with an on your own lunch, but please RSVP if you plan on attending so we know how many to expect. We are also inviting other clubs to join us, so if you know of another group that may want to join on the tour, please let us know.

The North-South is coming up be sure to make your reservations! We will have driving tour to the Pismo Beach location that Friday. If you are interested in a mellow drive with lunch stop, please reach out to Don Barnes so he can keep you updated on any tour plan updates. Reminder that it is appreciated but not a requirement that you drive a Cadillac or LaSalle for the tour or the event.

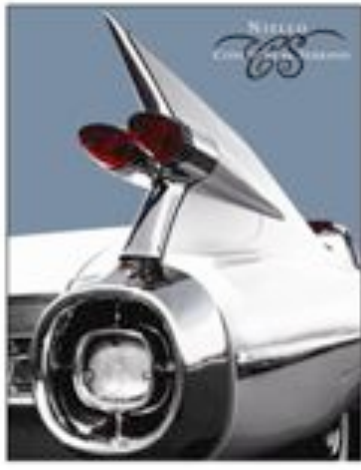

On a personal note, I recently joined the National Museum Board and wanted to thank those of you who voted for me in the national election. I am going out to Michigan in September to see the new museum for the first time, and to attend the annual Fall festival held on the grounds. The featured car this year are V-16s, it should be fun!

CLC President

Hope to see you at an event soon!

My Trip to the Gilmore Car Museum

By Jim Serwer

June 5 through June 7, 2015, the Classic Car Club held its annual Museum Experience at the Gilmore Car Museum. I attended as the self-appointed official representative from NorCal CLC. The weekend included a driving tour, a formal dinner with magic show, and a car show. On the driving tour we took a guided tour of a sculpture garden.

The featured marque of the car show was Packard (not Cadillac ☹). Packards were present in great abundance. The show field had far more Packards than all other marques combined. But I turned my attention primarily to Cadillacs.

World's largest horse statue. Meijer Gardens, Grand Rapids

1905 Cadillac driven to car show by non-entrant attendee.

I found just one Cadillac entered in the car show. It was a beautiful 1930 5-passenger coupe. Present on the museum grounds, but not entered in the show was an very attractive 1905 Cadillac. Pre-1925 cars, such as this, are before the Classic era. The owner had driven this car to the show as an attendee.

The Gilmore Car Museum is home to the CLC Museum and Research Center. On Gilmore's site map is the designation, "Future site of the Cadillac-LaSalle Museum." The museum is now fully built and open. I counted 20 cars on display. The first car one sees on entering is a 1903 Runabout. Tucked away in a corner in back, is a modern Cadillac. There is also a collection of model cars, and insignias. Pictures of factory scenes adorn the walls.

The most whizzbang car I saw that week was neither a Cadillac, nor was it at the Gilmore. I am talking about a 1931 Bugatti Royale, located in the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn (near Detroit). Only six were built; it had a price tag of $43,000 in 1931. The Henry Ford Museum also displays numerous other cars, antique steam engines, antique guns, and much much more.

Besides the CLC museum, many Cadillacs were scattered throughout the rest of the campus. Cadillacs could be found in Classic Car Club museum and in the main Gilmore Car Museum.

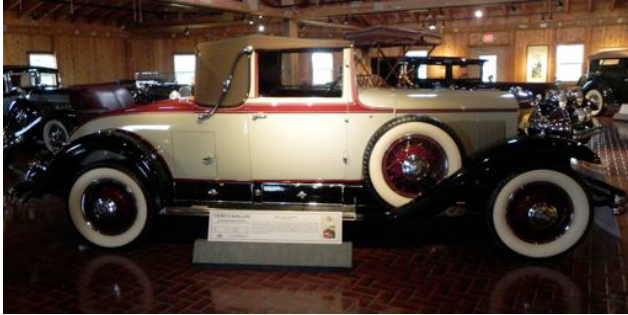

Here is a sampling of some Cadillacs I saw.
